

Drawings are not to scale. Essentially the inside center height is the tallest, from there it gradually decreases until approximately 4" from the outer edge where the bend begins. At that point the height decreases rapidly. This is why we do not recommend 57" SnoCaps for most applications anymore as they are generally too short in the outside edges.